SOCCER

Andover 3, Methuen 2.

These old time rivals met in a league contest on the local Cricket grounds last Saturday afternoon and after an hour and a half of as strenuous football as has ever been played the league leaders won out 3 goals to 2. The contest took place in a drizzling rain which made the ball difficult to handle and kept down the attendance, but those who were present were well paid for their troubles. Andover and Methuen have played many games of soccer in the past but none have furnished so much excitement as that of last Saturday, especially the last 20 minutes of play.

Andover had the most of the play in the first half and were value for their one goal lead. Dougherty scoring in the first few minutes of play. The Andover forwards did most of the pressing and only the brilliant goal-keeping of Wilson prevented the locals from scoring oftener. Once or twice the visitors had a look in but on each occasion their finishing was poor.

The first portion of the second period was all in favor of Methuen and after twelve minutes of play they equalized, Pendlebury beating Munroe and Hill immediately after put his team in the lead with a fine shot. Then the Andover forwards woke up and the Methuen goal was bombarded with hot shots. A penalty was taken by Page, the shot going wide, but Rae made no mistake a few minutes later when he landed the ball in the net from a second penalty. The third goal followed quickly for Andover could not be stopped, Deyermund giving the ball the final touch. Andover kept up the pressure and retired winner of a hard fought game, 3 to 2.

This victory gives the locals a clear lead of two points in the league standing.

Thistles 2, Olympic Juniors 1.

In a Junior league game on the playstead the Thistles defeated the Olympic Juniors of Lawrence last Saturday. The miserable weather kept many spectators away but did not take any interest from the game itself. Both teams played hard fast football, for neither had lost a game and the Thistles had not been scored on. Play was even in the last half, each side scoring one goal. The Thistles' lineup was changed during the second half, Carnathan going to centre forward and Maconochie to fullback, and the shift worked well both ways, the locals having the upper hand all through and should have scored oftener than once. A great game ended Thistles 2, Olympics 1.

The Andover Hearts meet the Lawrence Juniors Saturday in a junior league match. The juniors have not yet met defeat, but the Hearts will try to change this on Phillips field tomorrow afternoon. The game starts at 3.15. The lineup: Craig, goal; Low and Campbell, backs; Hadley, Ness and Nicoll, half-backs; Ramsey (Capt.), Valentine, Killacky, Porter and Dewhurst, forwards. W. Low and C. Brennan, reserves.

The Thistles again play the Olympic Juniors, this time on the Lawrence grounds at Burnham Park. The lineup of the Thistles will be the same as last week.

Andover United play the Olympic team Saturday afternoon on the cricket field. This should prove one of the hardest tussles for the United this season, but Andover will fight hard for victory, having a score to wipe out from last season.

Football Schedule at Phillips

The Phillips Andover football squad is busily getting into shape and the interclass games which will precede the choosing of the members of the varsity squad will soon commence.

The schedule for the fall games has been arranged by Manager Duby and is as follows:

Oct. 15—Harvard Fresh at Andover.

Oct. 22—Cushing Academy at Andover.

Oct. 25—Dartmouth Fresh at Andover.

Nov. 1—Yale Fresh at Andover.

Nov. 8—Exeter at Exeter.

Worcester Academy is not to be played this year as a satisfactory date could not be arranged. Harvard Fresh is back after a year's absence and Yale Fresh, who for the last two years have had to have the game with Andover cancelled, last year on account of York, the varsity player's sad death, have a date on the schedule.

William J. Murray of Natick, a member of the class of 1914, has been elected captain of the football team.

The Growth of Savings Bank Life Insurance

A number of new policy holders have been obtained recently at Tyler Rubber Company. There are many of the employees who have taken advantage of this insurance which is under the management of the Commonwealth, and is said to be the best insurance at lowest cost. This movement is making constant progress, and through the four banks which now have Insurance Departments $2,000 insurance can be obtained.

There are now more than 8,000 policy holders, and insurance to the amount of $3,125,000.

Recently the Insurance departments of the Savings banks paid a death claim in Waltham of $1,000 where the policy was in force less than one month. This money was a blessing to the widow and fourteen months old child.

Within a year, also, two death claims have been settled in England.

A Distinctive Number

Always of unvarying interest, the Saturday, October 4, edition of the Boston Evening Transcript will be read by thousands of persons with gratification and benefit because of the many specially written articles on a variety of interesting subjects which will be printed in it.

One particularly good illustrated article is on "Homes at Small Cost," about houses of seven and eight rooms for $4,000; a similar group for $10,000, etc.

Anyone who has real estate, house or farm anywhere in New England to dispose of will find it advantageous to advertise in the October 4 Boston Transcript, as this issue will have an exceedingly wide distribution and advertisers will receive satisfying results.

Many people who are not regular readers always look in the Transcript when they wish to buy or hire a house or farm, apartment, board or room, for they know that the largest lists of the better offerings are always printed there, as well as "want" advertisements of specially capable business assistants and good servants.

The Reading Fair

Many local people attended the Reading-Wakefield Fair held on the Reading Fair grounds on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The event was one of the most successful which has yet been held by the Quannapowitt Agricultural Association, under whose auspices it is held annually, and was heartily enjoyed by the many who attended.

The exhibits of the various Granges Exhibition Hall were of a high quality, and the hall was continually filled with admiring visitors. Here also was the Baby Show, another strong attraction, and a fine collection of leather and raffia work, embroidery, and other articles made by the patients at the Danvers State Hospital.

The cattle, horses, pigs and poultry shows were also of the usual high standard, while the midway was filled with the numerous fairs and money-extracting devices which form so important a part of fair-going to many people.

The horse racing was for many one of the most attractive of the various features, and on Wednesday afternoon, especially, no end of amusement and fun was furnished for the hundreds of men and women who filled the grandstand and lined up along the track. The racing was keen, sharply contested, and full of the fun-producing uncertainty which seldom enters into grand circuit racing, but which can always be found in smaller affairs. In addition to the work on the track, an excellent vaudeville show was given each day opposite the grandstand, and with its many features, the balloon ascension, etc., there was interest and excitement aplenty.

On Wednesday, Lieutenant Governor Walsh attended, and in addressing the crowds of people who greeted him, extended the congratulations and best wishes of the governor and the commonwealth.

Weather that could not be improved upon favored the fair and altogether it was a great success in every way.

CASTLE SQUARE

"The Ninety and Nine," a rural melodrama in four acts, is the attraction at the Castle Square. The scene is laid in India, and the action and the characters introduced are quite simple. Next week the play will be "The Butterfly on the Wheel."

HOLLIS

"The Sunshine Girl," a musical comedy in two acts, is on the first week of its engagement at the Hollis Street theatre. Julia Sandersan is the attractive star of the piece and her work is very pleasing.

SHUBERT

"The Purple Road," an operatic romance in two acts and an epilogue, with the "Little Corporal" as the central figure, is being very attractively presented at the Shubert. Napoleonic legends have been used freely in the piece with very successful results.

MAJESTIC

The second and last week of "The Ham Tree" at the Majestic comes to a close on Saturday. Seats are now on sale for the next attraction, "The Five Frankfurters."

COLONIAL

Maclyn Arbuckle is on the last week of his engagement in "The Merry Martyr," at the Colonial. Geo. M. Cohan will begin an engagement next Monday evening in "Broadway Jones."

PARK

"The Conspiracy," a detective-police play based on white slavery, full of excitement and humor, is having a successful engagement at the Park theatre.

BOSTON

The third of the Century Theatre dramatic spectacles, "Joseph and His Brethren," will come to the Boston Theatre beginning Monday, September 29. In some respects it is built on a larger scale than either of its predecessors, for it has thirteen scenes where "The Garden of Allah" and "The Daughter of Heaven" had only eight. There are more than two hundred people in the production and more than sixty speaking parts. Its success has been phenomenal.

"Joseph and His Brethren" is a vitalized version of the story in the Book of Genesis, written for the stage by Louis N. Parker. Mr. Parker is known chiefly in America for his "Disraeli" and "Pomander Walk," but in England he is known as the author of many other successes, including "Drake," the hit of the last London season.

To present "Joseph and His Brethren" the Liebler Company has selected a cast of unusual ability. Brandon Tynan, who has been a star in his own plays and leading man for Nazimova, will play the role of Joseph. James O'Neill, of "Monte Cristo" fame, will have the part of Jacob, the patriarch, and in the third act will play Pharaoh. Pauline Fredericks, pronounced by artist Harrison Fisher the most beautiful woman in America, and numerous other players of reputation, will be seen in the cast.

The curtain will rise promptly at two o'clock in the afternoon and at eight in the evening. The management announces that those of the audience who are not in place at that hour will not be seated until the end of the scene. The seat sale opens Tuesday, September 23d. Mail orders with remittances will be filed in the order received.

PLYMOUTH

George Arliss returns to the Plymouth theatre on next Monday for an engagement of four weeks only in Louis N. Parkers' play "Disraeli," which is destined to live for a long time to come. It is an extraordinary vehicle for Mr. Arliss' minute and vivid characterization of Disraeli in outer aspect, speech, mind and spirit, playing through the diversified relations of private and public life. Disraeli is one of the most picturesque figures in modern English history and in Mr. Parker's brilliant comedy he shows the great statesman's efforts to secure control of the Suez canal for England, the intrigues that developed with the undertaking and through all a delightful love story.

The production scenically is most attractive and interesting, particularly the brilliant ensemble effects in the last act, representing the reception hall in Downing street, just before the presentation to the Queen. It is safe to say that Mr. Arliss will repeat his former big success. The only regret, however, is the fact that the engagement is positively limited to four weeks. Send in your order for seats now so as to be sure you will get them. The demand for tickets is so large that the management will accept mail orders, when made payable to Fred E. Wright, for any time during the four weeks. The same scale of prices, 50c, to $2.00, will prevail, while the usual Thursday and Saturday matinees will be given.

TREMONT TEMPLE

On next Monday "Les Miserables," Victor Hugo's masterpiece, presented for the first time in this country, in motion pictures, will enter upon the fifth big week of its engagement in Boston at the Tremont Temple. Practically the complete story of Hugo's vast human epic is told in this daring picture-play version, and the book itself seems to live in flesh and blood before one's eyes. Many of the scenes in which its action is played are the actual scenes, both in Paris and in the French countryside, described by Hugo himself, thus giving to the play a lifelike verisimilitude impossible to the conventional dramatic performance. The story is told in four acts of nine reels that form the nucleus of a series of tense and absorbing scenes never before witnessed. The leading characters are portrayed by an extraordinarily competent cast of French actors. If you desire a wider knowledge of Hugo's world-famous story don't fail to see this production. There are daily matinees at a popular scale of prices.

GARDNER NAMED FOR GOVERNOR

Wins In Bay State Primaries In a Light Vote

BARRY IS VICTOR OVER LONG

Will Be Walsh's Running Mate on Democratic Ticket—Mansfield and Burrill Win Contests For State Treasurer—Neither Walsh Nor Bird Have Any Opposition

The following are the three state tickets nominated:
Democrat—Governor, David I. Walsh, Fitchburg; Lieutenant governor, Edward P. Barry, Boston; secretary of state, Frank J. Donahue, Boston; treasurer and receiver-general, Frederick W. Mansfield, Boston; auditor, Frank H. Pope, Leominster; attorney general, Thomas J. Boynton, Everett.

Republican—Governor, Augustus P. Gardner, Hamilton; Lieutenant governor, Augustus H. Goetting, Springfield; secretary of state, William S. Kinney, Boston; treasurer and receiver-general, Charles L. Burrill, Boston; auditor, John E. White, Tisbury; attorney general, James M. Swift, Fall River.

Progressive—Governor, Charles S. Bird, Walpole; Lieutenant governor, Daniel Cosgrove, Lowell; secretary of state, Russell A. Wood, Cambridge; treasurer and receiver-general, Warren R. Keith, Brockton; auditor, Octave A. LaRiviere, Springfield; attorney general, Henry H. Newton, Everett.

AUGUSTUS P. GARDNER

Congressman Augustus P. Gardner is the choice of the Republican party for the nomination for governor of Massachusetts. He was nominated over Everett C. Benton by a decisive majority.

Edward P. Barry of Boston was nominated as the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant governor, defeating Richard H. Long of South Framingham.

DAVID I. WALSH

These are the important results of the primaries.
The vote cast was the lightest in years.

The nomination of Gardner came as a surprise. He went into the fight weeks after Benton had announced his candidacy and started an active campaign in the state. It was early evident, however, that Gardner was the winner when the results in the towns began to roll in.

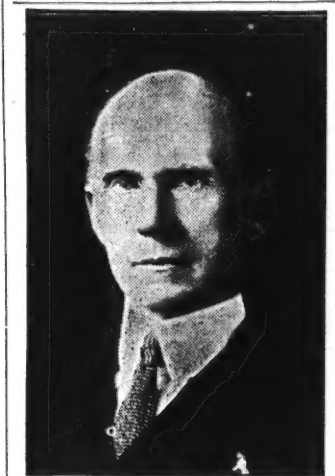

The Benton forces got a bad jolt in Boston, where their candidate led Gardner by only 157.

From a political standpoint the result of the contest for the Lieutenant governorship is most interesting. The defeat of Long by Barry was a smashing defeat for the Democratic state organization. Chairman Riley had announced that Long was the choice of Lieutenant Governor Walsh, Mayor Fitzgerald, Secretary of State Donahue and other Democratic leaders. He predicted that the nomination of Barry would mean the defeat of the Democratic candidate for governor.

In Boston the Democratic organization, led by Chairman Maynard, failed to carry the city for Long. Congressman Curley was on the line for Barry. Lieutenant Governor Walsh received a big vote in the primaries and was nominated as the Democratic candidate for governor. Charles S. Bird was nominated as the Progressive candidate for governor. Neither Bird nor Walsh had any opposition.

Frederick W. Mansfield was nominated over Joseph L. P. St. Coeur for state treasurer on the Democratic end, and Charles L. Burrill was nominated over Maurice Kane for the Republican nomination for treasurer.

CHARLES S. BIRD

In Boston, Barry won over Candidate Long with a majority of 4209. The final count showed that Benton carried Boston by only 157 votes.

In the contest for district attorney of Suffolk county District Attorney Pelletier defeated Timothy W. Coakley two to one. Pelletier received 21,547 votes against 10,640 for Coakley.

GOTHAM SOCIETY SHOCKED

Mrs. Mackay Charged With Alienating Blake's Affections

The news that Mrs. Catherine K. Blake, wife of Dr. Joseph A. Blake, had served a summons and complaint on Mrs. Clarence Mackay for $1,000,000 for the alienation of the affections of Blake, caused a general shock among the wealthiest and most exclusive New York society people.

The friendship between the wife of the principal owner of one of the two great telegraph systems of this country and many cable lines and Blake has for more than a year been the subject of gossip in the homes among whom the Mackays and the Blakes had their friends. Public discussion now is only caused by the determination of Mrs. Blake to have an open adjustment of the grievance which she feels she has against her husband and Mrs. Mackay.

REGULATIONS UNCHANGED

Foreign Potato Quarantine Will Continue Indefinitely

To prevent the introduction into the United States of a dangerous potato disease the federal horticultural board has decided to continue indefinitely the quarantine against potato importations from the British Isles, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Newfoundland and the two French islands at the mouth of the St. Lawrence river, St. Pierre and Miquelon.

The London bureau of agriculture recently asked that this quarantine be raised or modified, but the horticultural board has ruled against a change in the regulations.

SLAVERY IN PHILIPPINES

Worcester's Charges Backed Up by Auditor For the Islands

Secretary Garrison had before him a Philippine slavery report by W. H. Phipps, auditor for the islands, practically backing up the startling charges of Dean Worcester.

It cites details of many cases of boys and girls sold into slavery at prices ranging from $60 to $100, and that heads of savage families sell their daughters and regard the practice as a right.

"I have no hesitancy in saying that I think the charges of Worcester that slavery exists in the Philippines are sustained," says Phipps.

ANOTHER CROWLEY VESSEL WRECKED

Ten Men and Two Women Rescued In Nick of Time

A five-masted schooner, Marcus L. Urann, bound for Boston from Norfolk, with 3042 tons of coal, struck the tail of the reef southeast of Martha's Vineyard and foundered in the shallow water, with a strong wind tossing it about.

Captain Jackson of the fishing boat Priscilla rescued the ten men and two women that were aboard the schooner. The boat used by Jackson was bought with money given him by the Carnegie Hero commission.

The quick rescue of the men and women aboard the doomed schooner was effected none too soon, for, when the fishing boat left the scene, the sea was washing over the schooner.

Captain Jackson saved fifteen from drowning when the Mertie B. Crowley struck the same reef three years ago.

This is the third vessel belonging to the Crowley company of Boston that has been wrecked on this reef in the past ten years.

CENSURE FOR DIRECTORATE

In Commerce Commission's Report on Railroad Wreck

ARE "MAGICIANS" IN FINANCE

Suggestion That More Consideration Be Paid to Safety on New Haven Road—Discipline Weak and Ineffective—Disobedience of Rules Caused Wallingford Wreck

Censuring the directorate of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad from the Wallingford, Conn., wreck on Sept. 2, in which twenty-one persons lost their lives, the interstate commerce commission issued a full report of the investigation of the accident.

The report holds that the directorate "should feel themselves called upon to turn from the consideration of the financial questions in which the road is involved and give their consideration to the questions of safety."

The commission calls attention to the large number of wrecks which have taken place on the New Haven and virtually places responsibility for these accidents and the resultant loss of life upon the directorate of the road, whom it refers to as "magicians in the art of finance and wizards in the construction, operation and consolidation of great systems of railroads."

The report further calls attention to the fact that "no intelligent system was devised by which to ascertain when the rules were disobeyed."

It is also charged that rules were violated many times and that only small portions of these violations were reported to the officials of the company.

"Discipline was weak and ineffective," reads the report, "certainly a fault of the management. Rules were inefficient and the fault of the higher officials. Rules were inadequately enforced, the blame for which must be charged to the officials."

"This government has the power. If this railroad will not itself exercise its own authority, to compel the safeguarding of traffic over this line."

The direct and proximate cause of this disaster, says the report, was the failure of those members of these train crews to obey rules to exercise the degree of care under the circumstances which was commensurate with grave responsibility resting upon them at that time.

"Man failure in this case," says Commissioner McChord, who prepared the report after an exhaustive personal investigation of the accident, "began high up in official authority, and it was not an unnatural sequence that it reached down to those in positions lower in official rank, but still weighted with great responsibility."

"Reference to the management of this railroad has no application to the new president. Presumably he was selected because of his fitness as a railroad manager. It is to be hoped that he may be permitted to devote himself primarily to the problems of safety of operation which plus railroad management is now under the highest compulsion of duty and humanity properly to solve."

New Haven's "Other Expenses"

The confession of the New Haven railroad that it spent $337,469.71 from Dec. 1, 1912, to June 30, of this year, in payments to newspaper men, publicists, newspapers and magazines and to lawyers for work not covered by their usual legal fees, is the chief topic of discussion at the Massachusetts state house.

Frederick J. Macleod, chairman of the public service commission, took official cognizance of the inference drawn from a payment to him of $709, and at the $67,000,000 bond hearing stated that the money was paid him as a member of the Springfield riverfront commission, created by the legislature, which stated in its act that the members of the commission should be paid by the railroads involved in the dispute which the commission settled.

The commission wants to know how the road spent $337,469.71 casually listed on the financial statement as "other expenses."

INQUEST POSTPONED

Three Allierists For the Prosecution Have an Interview With Schmidt

His counsel claims he is insane, and in order that expert opinion on this point may be had before the case progresses further, the inquest into the Ammiller girl's death was adjourned to Oct. 2.

By that time a decision as to Schmidt's mental status will have been reached by the state's alienists.

The Result of the Primary

"Holding one's tongue at the right time, is a great art—an art in which few have excelled the Prince of Orange; really quite a talkative man, but called The Silent by history because he knew when to keep still. It was thus:

"Riding one day with the French King and the Spanish Ambassador, he overheard the latter reveal the plans of his master for the suppression of the small fragments of liberty left to the Netherlands. He held his peace, but he never forgot what he had heard and when the time came, he acted on his knowledge of the real intentions of Philip II. Grimmer task no man ever had. It was his to rouse the peaceful inhabitants of the country to a desperate resistance to the power of Spain backed up by the finest infantry in Europe. "The bullet of the assassin cut him off before the task was finished, but so well had he builded that the foundations were laid on which those who came after him built up the first commercial and maritime power of the time.

"William of Orange was one of the world's great men, because he knew when to keep his mouth shut; a characteristic, unhappily, in which few try to imitate him."

What a lot too much many of us say about current events! What a lot we might much better say about things that are current but which are not events. For example, it is current that when the frost becomes a little sharper the chestnuts will begin to fall, but that won't be much of an event except for the squirrels.

What a good time the squirrels will have though! The time to see them is just after daybreak when all the world is a-tang, and the white frost glistens in the earliest glow of the sun through the trees. The busiest man at a political barbecue isn't in it with the provider of a family at chestnut gathering time in Squirrel Land.

Speaking of political barbecues, if you want to see a real hummer along that line, hear the crows call early some morning and get up and watch a good big flock of the black thieves attack your unharvested corn crop. They don't wait on ceremony any more than they would if they were local Democrats chasing a postoffice job by way of a town committee election. They leave as the sun begins to shine brightly and again remind you of politics because they are so different from those men in politics who spend their time boasting of their courage, but who are so afraid of the dark they don't come out to steal their corn until the sun is shining its brightest.

When the crow gets too voracious the best cure is buckshot; for his contemporary in the political field the standard dose is "more pap." But the fellow who beats them all when it comes to picking the ripest fruit, is the sly old fox, and they do say that he will sometimes get away with a fullgrown chicken and not leave the trace of as much as a single feather. We wonder if there are not some folks, who are pretty proud just now of their newly purchased chicken-flocks who would better keep a sharp lookout for political foxes. And say, have you ever heard that the man who won't acknowledge that he is licked is bound to win in the end?

Editorial Cinders

What an awful time the "man of courage" and his supporters are having because somebody suggests an independent candidacy. We have not the least idea that there is going to be any independent candidacy on the part of Col. Benton, but all the Bourbon press of the state is at once up in arms when it is suggested that the independent "man of courage" is in danger of being opposed by some other individual who has as much right to a claim for courage, and has proved that right as much as some other people. The minute a man suggests that he does not feel rather happy after he has been deceived, misled, lied to, kicked, abused, and finally defeated by the machinations of the Republican machine which, no matter what anybody says, was with the winner in the last Republican primaries, he is called a poor loser if he does not immediately jump into print and say how happy he is that he has succeeded in coming out of the contest with a frayed necktie and a torn stocking. Such a course is what the divine-right rulers always demand, but there is increasing evidence from year to year that more and more of the rank and file of the Republican party are balking at the idea that their only place in life is that of burden-bearer. Meanwhile, let the merry war go on.

We respectfully ask our learned educators in Andover to define the word "executive." It has generally been supposed to be the title of the official entrusted with the actual work of administering an office. In a certain Andover department it is understood that one individual has an idea that when he is elected to a legislative board he became automatically an executive. Please, Messrs. Educators, hurry up and define "executive," but be prepared to argue it.

Few institutions, be they educational, business, or any other sort, have as much right as does Phillips Academy to celebrate founders day. What a wonderful history that is which runs back to that day more than a century and a third ago, when Phillips Academy was begun! It deserves a great day to commemorate it, and a great man to honor the day. Welcome the day and welcome the man—October 11 and Wm. H. Taft!

The farewell service at the Free Church last Sunday evening may be considered as the closing event in the breaking of old ties by Messrs. Palmer and Shipman, so far as public leavetaking is concerned. Both have builded well into the life of Andover in the last quarter of a century, and both will be missed from their accustomed duties. May the very best of all that they hope for in their new fields of activity come to them.

Mr. Allen's New Store

William A. Allen has completed preparations for the opening of his music store in the block on Main street recently purchased by him, and is now in readiness to receive visitors. He has utilized for his store and salesroom four rooms over Valpey's market, and, attractively fitted up as they are, the whole forms not only a very pleasant place of business, but for lovers of music and especially of the Victrolas, of which Mr. Allen is making a special line, it cannot fail to have an irresistible charm.

Upon entering one finds himself first in a small outer room where catalogues and various books of information can be secured. To the left is another room which is to be reserved especially for the ladies where they can listen to the playing of a similar room for men while beyond is the main store, where sheet music, records, musical instruments and the other features of Mr. Allen's stock will be kept. The entire suite is simply but charmingly finished, the walls being papered in harmonious brown, green and blue shades, and the floors covered with linoleum. The arrangement of the rooms will make it possible for three or four parties to inspect or hear played any of the beautiful Victrolas on exhibition, at the same time without any interference, and it is safe to say that the store will be a very popular one when its merits and attractiveness shall have been a little more fully known and appreciated.

Mr. Allen is planning to hold an opening in the near future.

Won Prizes at Topsfield

The Essex Agricultural Society held its 97th annual fair at Topsfield, September 16 and 17. Fair weather caused the attendance to be unusually large each day; the exhibits were also numerous, and exceptionally good ones.

The local exhibitors were Fred A. Swanton, one family horse, and Chester D. Abbott, who also had one entry in this class. The latter also exhibited his two draft colts, two and one year old respectively, and Mr. Swanton brought back the blue ribbon and Mr. Abbott the red one, in the family horse class. Mr. Abbott also took second in the stallion class under four years of age, and first for colts under two years of age.

TO OBSERVE FOUNDERS DAY

Plans Made for Phillips Academy Celebration on October 11. Taft to Be Principal Speaker

An event of more than passing interest occurs on Friday and Saturday, October 10th and 11th, when the trustees and faculty of Phillips Academy inaugurate Founders Day. The institution of such a day has been long considered, and the program planned promises to make the event a notable one. The chief speaker of Founders Day, Hon. William Howard Taft, is sure to get a rousing reception from Phillips men and townspeople alike. He will deliver an address at Brothers' Field, Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, if the weather permits. An address by Henry L. Stimson of New York will be given in the Archaeology Building at the dedication of a memorial tablet.

The following explanatory letter has been sent out by Frederick E. Newton, secretary of the General Alumni Association.

"The plan of the trustees of Phillips Academy to institute a Founders Day deserves the hearty support of every alumnus and friend of Andover's old and historic school. Few institutions in America have more just grounds for celebrating a Founders Day. Of its long and illustrious history, its wealth of tradition, and its list of distinguished founders, graduates, benefactors, and friends, the school is genuinely proud. The value of tradition to the student body cannot be overestimated and a celebration such as this must tend strongly to emphasize to the student mind the significance of the traditions that surround him and the ideals which he is called upon to uphold. Under such conditions school loyalty becomes a very real and inspiring thing.

"The trustees have been most fortunate in securing for this first Founders Day two such eminent speakers as Hon. William H. Taft and Hon. Henry L. Stimson. Nothing remains to insure the complete success of the occasion but the presence of a large number of enthusiastic alumni. Those of us who have been fortunate enough to attend recent commencements will be glad to come again. Those who by other engagement have been denied this pleasure will welcome this opportunity to revisit the scenes of their school days, note for themselves the growth of the school in recent years, and meet old schoolmates and friends."

The program is as follows:
Oct. 10, 7:30 p.m. Mass Meeting with Songs and Short Addresses.

Borden Gymnasium
Oct. 11, 9:30 a.m. Track Meet.

12:00 p.m. Dedication of Memorial Tablet. Archaeology Building
Address by the Hon. Henry L. Stimson.

1 p.m. Luncheon served to Alumni. Dining Hall
2:30 p.m. Address by the Hon. William H. Taft.

4:00 p.m. Old Fashioned Field Sports.

Child Welfare Meeting

The Andover Mothers' club and the Ballardvale Mothers' club will be interested in the following notice of the fall convention of the Massachusetts branch of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers Associations to be held in Gloucester October 9-11.

There are to be several unique features connected with the convention, one of which will be a symposium of superintendents from various parts of the state. They will tell of the advantages of the Parent-Teacher Associations to the schools of their sections.

Another feature will be that of hearing from the presidents of the other New England states already organized. These are: Mrs. Henry Harmon of Vermont, Mrs. John D. Moore of New Hampshire, Mrs. B. L. Mott of Connecticut, and Mrs. Dwight Bartlett of Rhode Island.

Among the subjects to be considered are the following: "The Duty of the School to arouse a Sense of Responsibility in the Home," Dr. Franklin B. Dyer, Superintendent of Schools, Boston; "How to Teach Temperance in the Schools and Home," Mrs. George Luce of West Tisbury; "Vocational Education," Mrs. Mary Woolman, president of Woman's Educational and Industrial Union, Boston; "Girls' Trade Schools," Mrs. Cleo Murland, New York City; "The Kindergarten," Miss Lucy Wheelock; "Eugenics," Mrs. Wyman of Vermont.

The Congress will be pleased to welcome any representatives from other states who may desire to attend and who will make themselves known at the opening reception to be held in the town hall at Gloucester on Thursday evening, October 9, at seven o'clock. Any other persons who are interested in the moral uplift of the child are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

The delegates appointed from Ballardvale are Mrs. Freeman Abbott, and Mrs. Conkey.

At the next meeting of the Andover Mothers' club to be held next Friday, October 3, at half-past three, in the Samuel Jackson school, delegates to this convention will be appointed.

Open Meeting of Friends of the Flower Show

The committee on the Flower Show feel that a larger number of people should be working for the success of the show and that many who cannot work with this committee may have suggestions to offer.

They therefore will hold an open meeting in the School Committee's room, town hall, Wednesday evening, October 1, 1913, inviting all interested in the continuation of the show, as well as those willing to share in the work, to be present. The meeting will be called to order at 7:45 o'clock.

ANDOVER'S QUIET PRIMARIES

Total of 544 Votes Cast Tuesday. Bailey, Crowley and Boutwell Nominees for Representative

Andover's vote at the primaries held on Tuesday was very light, the total number of ballots cast being as follows: Republican 192, Democratic 333, and Progressive 19, a total of 544, as against 336 last year. The comparatively large Democratic vote was called out by the contest over the town committee, while interest in the Progressive ticket was far from keen.

Everett C. Benton had a majority over A. P. Gardner of 32 votes for the Republican nomination for governor.

In the fight for the councillor nomination, Edw. G. Frothingham led with 119 votes, his opponents, Frederick H. Tarr, and James H. Walker, getting 18 and 27 respectively.

On the Democratic ticket Edw. P. Barry led Richard H. Long, candidates for lieutenant governor, by 53 votes. For councillor James E. Donoghue led over Edward J. Carney by 45. In the senatorial fight, John P. S. Mahoney outdistanced rival aspirants by a good margin. In the town committee contest, Andover stood by three of the old members and gave a majority to two new ones. Ballardvale, however, overwhelmingly voted for the new men, defeating the old crowd 54 to 9. The following were elected: David S. Burns, John H. MacDonald, Joseph P. Lynch, John Lewis and Patrick McGovern. William C. Crowley polled a big vote, being cut a little by his party. His total vote was 192.

The returns from the voting were received by the town clerk about two o'clock Wednesday morning.

Teachers' Meeting Held

A general meeting of the public school teachers was held on Tuesday in the School Committee room, at which a very interesting discussion, led by Superintendent Bemis, took place on the Gary system of education which is in operation in Gary, Indiana.

Gary is a city which seven years ago did not exist, and which owes its inception and marvelous growth to a population of 40,000, to the United States Steel Corporation. In the conduct of its public schools a system has been evolved by the superintendent in charge which is not only unique, but according to Mr. Bemis, is perhaps the most satisfactory in the United States in the point of efficiency. In fact a maximum of efficiency has been reached since the schedule of work used in the school is so elastic and flexible that it permits of the grouping of pupils from kindergarten age to college years in the same building; provides for the use of every part of the building and equipment including workshop, playgrounds, etc., during every part of the day; necessitates half as many teachers as are required here for a given number of pupils; arranges recitation and study hours so that the teacher has no school work to perform after school hours, thereby keeping her in a state of the greatest efficiency; adapts work and play to the individual child's need so that a weak child can grow strong through additional outdoor exercise; and provides for summer and evening classes, organized play, instruction in twelve various trades, etc. In a word, the system as it has been arranged and as it is being worked, means efficiency to a very high degree.

The discussion proved to be a very enjoyable and instructive one.

Observed Eightieth Birthday

Mrs. Joseph W. Poor of Frye Village very pleasantly observed her eightieth birthday on Tuesday of this week, when, in company with her brother, James H. Reynolds of Frye Village, her sister, Mrs. L. R. Richardson of Lawrence, and her son, Rev. William G. Poor of Petersham, she was entertained at dinner by her daughter, Mrs. John N. Cole, at the latter's home on Highland road. The occasion, which was also the twenty-seventh anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Cole's marriage, was a very enjoyable one for all present.

PUBLIC FAREWELL MEETING

Unique Service held at Free Church last Sunday evening in honor of Dr. Palmer and Mr. Shipman.

A service, the like of which Andover has not seen for many years, if at all, and which in all probability she will not see again for another long period, took place last Sunday evening at the Free church. It was in the nature of a farewell to two of the ministers of the town, who, after long periods of service, one covering twenty-five and the other twenty years, are both to leave Andover for new fields. The service was indeed a unique one, voicing as it did the appreciation of the splendid work which has been done by Mr. Shipman and Dr. Palmer, and the regret at the termination of their connections with the town and two of its churches, but also marked by a pleasantness which, as several of the speakers of the evening said, was due to the unusual degree of harmony and fellowship which has existed during the past two or three decades among local churches.

their chosen work. So, he said, Mr. Shipman and Dr. Palmer were like two graduates going out from the town. They are taking from Andover, experience, wisdom and strength gained from their stay here, and in the successes which will come to them in the future, in the work which they are to enter. Andover will have a distinct feeling of pride and personal interest, just as the teacher follows with pride the advancement of one who has been under his guidance.

But not only will the two men take away with them part of Andover, but they will leave in Andover much of themselves. The churches of which they have been in charge, and which have grown and prospered under their care and influence, will continue to feel, in a large measure, their impress; their steadfast and earnest courage and perseverance will leave their stamp on the community. Times such as these, crises in men's lives,

REV. FREDERIC PALMER, D.D.
25 Years Rector of Christ Church

Dr. Palmer and Mr. Shipman were both present and, occupying seats with them on the platform were Rev. F. A. Wilson, Rev. Wm. E. Lombard and the two announced speakers, Rev. Wm. H. Ryder and Principal Alfred E. Stearns.

Following the responsive reading, led by Mr. Wilson, Mr. Lombard gave the invocation. Before introducing the speakers, Mr. Wilson spoke for a few minutes of the pleasant relationship between the churches, which had made possible the service, and then went on to emphasize the strong personal friendship which has existed among the pastors of the town, and especially among the three who have been here for so long a period.

Prof. Ryder was then introduced, and proceeded to speak upon the work which has been done by the are oftentimes periods of some depression in which one looks back over the past years and feels that perhaps he has not accomplished much that is worth while, and, Prof. Ryder said, doubtless discouragement has been felt by both Mr. Shipman and Dr. Palmer. But success does not always consist of going forward; quite as often it is made up of the ability to stand still, to not weaken or fall back, but "marking time," as he expressed it, and holding oneself in readiness to advance when the call comes. This has been the position of the Andover churches; the past quarter of a century has been characterized not so much by rapid growth as by constancy and maintenance of principles and ideals.

So these men will both take away from Andover certain elements, and two ministers from the religious standpoint. He recalled the period just before the removal of the Theological Seminary to Cambridge, when the faculty oftentimes felt a little discouragement over the small number of students graduated, but that they always consoled themselves with the thought that the few graduates who were sent out were almost always college presidents or great leaders in will leave with it certain others, as the fruits of their labor here. Mr. Stearns was the next speaker. The position of the minister in the community has changed greatly during the past years, he said, and the pulpit is no longer the dictator and director in all phases of life. The minister is not as influential in one respect as he was formerly, in that

HELD PRINTER'S OUTING

Andover Press Employees Attend Meeting of Printers' Board of Trade at Salem Willows

The first annual outing, complimentary to the printers of Essex County by the Printers' Board of Trade of the county, was held at Juniper Point Hall, Salem Willows, last Saturday afternoon, and was largely attended, there being over 150 present, including many ladies. The event was a great success, in spite of the rain, and everyone present had a most enjoyable time.

At one o'clock dinner was served, over which Fred L. Valpey of Lynn, president of the Board of Trade, presided as toastmaster. The menu was an excellent one and was as follows:

THE EATS

Abul Ben Hamid—Harem style
Salmon
Unsophisticated Peas
Oysters, à la Indian
Lovers' Delight Breakfast Food
Spuds, Pied, Bovine Encumbrances
Tomatoes
Dentists' Favorite
Garden of Eden Fruit Fritters
Wine Sauce
Italian Sweet Potato Fritters
W. C. T. U. Sauce
Hard Water
Albino
Dan Rice
Booker T.
Frozen Pudding
Cardinal Punch
Mongrel Cakes
Après nous le Déluge

After the dinner shop talks were given by men prominent in the trade, all of which proved of interest, both to employer and employee. The first speaker was Alexander A. Stewart of the North End Union School of Printing in Boston, who spoke on "Composition," and urged upon apprentices in the composing room to take advantage of every opportunity to raise the standard of composition. George H. Heintzemann, of the Heintzemann Press of Boston spoke on "Shop Efficiency," giving a detailed account of the most modern method of handling jobs of various sizes and styles. Chas. Sullivan, of the Suffolk Engraving Company of Boston, gave a most interesting talk on "Press Work," giving valuable information on how to handle vignettes and flat half tones to the many pressmen present. Former Representative Charles R. O'Connell of Peabody explained co-operation by the employee with regard to the cost system.

During the dinner and in the intervals between speakers an orchestra rendered several selections and Miss Eva Dooling entertained with vocal solos.

The ball game scheduled for 3 o'clock between the Andover Press nine and the rest of the county was reluctantly cancelled on account of the rain. A long list of sports had been arranged and between the dances were run off.

Some of the running races over the slippery floor were a little more hazardous than speedy, but they furnished amusement for all. The tug of pants was the first event and was won by the team from the Perry & Searle office, composed of Dick Daly, Chas. Gove and John Gannon. The pipe race was won by John Gannon of the Perry & Searle shop, and the nursing bottle contest, one of the unique phases of the outing was won by Irene DeGrenier, also of the Perry & Searle office. The shoe race went to John Gannon, Francis Maroney of the Andover Press office being a close second, and young Thomas Nichols upheld the reputation of the Lynn contingent by winning the potato race. Hazel Goselin of the Nichols Press won the women's potato race and closed the sports. Suitable prizes were awarded.

The sports were in charge of Arthur V. Wilson, secretary, and his skillful handling of the events was the subject of much favorable comment.

The outing was arranged to bring employer and employee closer together and the good fellowship that prevailed will make the event an annual one. There were twelve present from the Andover Press office.

McDOUGALL'S MUSINGS

A Round About Paper

The newspapers which are full of what an old friend of mine in Scotland called "grand accidents and offenses," are good reading for those who like to read about murders, forgeries, divorces and devilry. Sulzer, Williams, Schmidt and Thaw are a brilliant quartet and their music just means that education without common sense and the thing we used to call the grace of God is apt to put the world out of tune.

The funny thing about Thaw is that he seems to have more sense than any of the men who have captured him. We leave these four men as the ghost told Hamlet to do with his mother:

"Leave her to heaven,
And to those thorns that in her bosom lodge,
To prick and sting her."

Two clergymen are leaving Andover this fall, both good men. Oliver Goldsmith, the Irish poet, in "The Deserted Village" speaks of a clergyman who "was to all the country dear, and passing rich on forty pounds a year." Of Dr. Palmer and Mr. Shipman we may put the couplet thus:

Two men they are to all Andover dear,
And leave a richer legacy than gear. (wealth)

Another poet says, "Tis only noble to be good," and the nobility of both of these men consists in their love for mankind and their desire to do good. They have both spent twenty years going out and in among us and by their cheery Christian example have been a power for good. We wish them well in their new spheres of action and Andover is only honoring herself by honoring these two worthy men.

When the Underwood bill is signed by the president and a copy of the bill in my hands I may give my opinion as to its merits or demerits. There is a proverb which it would be well for us to remember, which says that "fools and bairns should never see half-done work." It may interest our high tariff, stand pat friends to read what a Boston merchant says about business in Europe. How even the scientific tariffs praised by Roosevelt do not always make a country prosperous, is clearly and honestly stated by Edward Filene in the clipping from the Boston Herald which is here quoted:

"Edward A. Filene of William Filene Sons Company returned from an European trip on the Cincinnati. 'Advanced prices in European wholesale markets,' Mr. Filene said, 'do not materialize on closer inspection. The manufacturing interests of Europe are not in a position to raise prices. Business is distinctly at ebb tide in Germany and Austria and business conditions in France are not up to the mark. Only in free trade England, and I am not a free trader, is there evidence of business prosperity.'

"Mr. Filene declared that the strengthening of the International Chamber of Commerce is attracting attention abroad and is looked upon as an important factor in reducing the cost of living by influencing governments to abolish retaliatory tariffs and reduce armaments. 'America is not alone in feeling the effect of high prices,' he said, 'as the same condition exists everywhere. Radicals are coming to the fore in foreign governments. In Germany the Socialists and Liberals are in control of the Reichstag and in almost every government the power of the radicals is steadily increasing.'

The next job for the British ministry which may overthrow the Liberal Asquith crew will be trying to reform the House of Lords. It would be like the Irishman who went to a gunsmith to get his gun repaired. The gunsmith asked him what repairs he wanted and the answer was: 'Well, Sir, I want a new stock, lock and barrel, for as it is now, it shoots round a corner!'

"What fools these mortals be." I note that Sir E. Carson, who is bitterly opposed to the Home Rule for Ireland bill, has gone to Belfast to review a hundred thousand Ulster men all armed and ready to fight the British government and defeat the Home Rule measure. I am not one of those who think that home rule will make the streets of Dublin to be paved with gold. But Carson and all the men of Ulster cannot stop the British Parliament from legally enforcing a law passed by the majority of the House of Commons and signed by King George. A tourist looking at Niagara Falls may as well tell the St. Lawrence river to stop because it makes a noise. IAN McDOUGALL

Boulder Note

Since the last report, Mr. Hubbard Moses Abbott of Northampton has sent us $500, to help the good work, as he calls it. Although he has now, with the sale of the old estate, cut loose as a taxpayer, he retains his interest in us and promises to pick up something of the history of the old boulder from his early home. The soil is hard to win over to a grass decoration, having an affinity for the fine low blueberry we tested at recess when the Center School stood near, but the oats sown have held on well through the long drought. I shall carry my little bag of wood ashes down once in a while, to help balance the acids of the old glacial sands. In a square, set off on the east side of the long lot are the remains of a great company of old pioneers rudely dug out of their first long sleep and dumped all together in a place not adapted for lots. This has not been disturbed more than was necessary, being packed with bones, and some have thought a rhododendron, which is a shrub that is doing well elsewhere in the yard, would be suitable for a living monument for these wandering ghosts. Hydrangeas for the main plot have been suggested as a shrub that will overcome the stubborn soil in time. Some one with experience of just such places may give hints of other shrubs or perennials, that can hold their own. An old white lilac in the lots below has grown well for years and there may be new varieties that Jackson Dawson could vouch for. A man who has done thorough-class work as to monuments, will place the slate panel (which is a gift saving us $500, from some source I will ascertain) in position, with an inscription, at a cost below $25.00, of which we have $15.00—saved from the contributions sent already. The expense is in cutting the cavity for the slate in the hard stone by hand, as the boulder is planted far from mechanical aids.

The inscription suggested is the shortest that will tell the whole tale:

To guard the pioneer dead of the South Parish

Some one may be able to do better. Forty-five characters which can be prepared outside and the panel fastened securely to the granite. Many have criticised the choice of this rather homely rock, recommended by Mr. Rea and Mr. Vennard, but after seeing the cracks in the handsome boulders of some other yards, I feel satisfied this will weather the storms and frosts; and the slate is equally durable. When the grass gets in and the ferns cuddle up to it and maybe some polite and graceful vine that will train where it is needed, lends a hand, you will see that "dead granite" is the best for the surrounding of old pines and river and a New England sky, that is fierce in improvements on man's handiwork. The lichens will help decorate; a walk about the walls of the yard after a spring rain shows some fine art work in their line.

Can the children of the parish spare a nickel from picture shows and candy shops to help along the fund for the tablet; to honor, beside the men and women, the little children, who so long ago, over 200 years it was, picked lupines and fished for trout in Roger's Brook, that stops just a whirl or two below the boulder lot to sing a requiem for those who did so much for the good old Andover village?

Pass your bit along to Mr. Francis in the furniture shop and he will keep your names. We will not give the sums below fifty cents after this, so some short pocket among the elders may like to see their names on the lists as helpers. We want the tablet in before Decoration Day.

THREE WORDS

Lawyer Received $10,000
For "Stop! Look! Listen!"

By HOLLAND.
WORDS are wonderful things. A Chicago publisher displays in his windows the legend, "Words are the only things that live forever."
A lawyer was once asked by the president of a railroad to suggest a sign that could be posted at railroad crossings—something that would prevent accidents and would also be effective in defending damage suits when accidents occurred.
He suggested the three words, "Stop! Look! Listen!" He received a fee of $10,000, and his suggestion was worth it because those words, posted at grade crossings, prevented many accidents.
Do you believe in signs? And do you obey them when you see them? Do you stop, look and listen? You ought to, because by watching these warnings as they appear in our advertising columns you can
AVOID BEING SWINDLED BY SUBSTITUTES.
Every advertisement is a warning sign. It suggests that you stop, look and listen before proceeding. In other words, investigate and thereby avoid the shoddy, the impure, the worthless.

John Fletcher Dead

John Fletcher died Monday forenoon at about nine o'clock, at the home of his son-in-law, Felix G. Haynes, at the advanced age of 88 years, 5 months, 16 days. The deceased was born at Utley, Yorkshire, England, April 6, 1825. He came to this country in 1848. He went to Tilton, N. H., from Methuen in 1865, and was one of the owners of the granite mills of that town. Mr. Fletcher was a born musician and composer and was completely happy and wrapped up in his favorite vocation. He won considerable reputation as the composer of "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party," a song which became very popular. He also composed much church music which is used in the Episcopal service. He was organist of the Episcopal church in Tilton, N. H., for forty-six years.

About two years ago he came to reside in Ballardvale and has since lived here. He was a member of the Masonic lodge and of the Knights Templar of Concord, N. H. He was a man of sterling integrity and uprightness and was rightly esteemed by all who knew him. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. John S. Stark, and a number of grandchildren to mourn his loss.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock from the home of Mr. Haynes. Rev. Augustus H. Fuller and Rev. W. Stanley Emery of Concord, N. H., conducted the service. Delegations from Trinity church of Concord, N. H., and Doric lodge of Tilton, N. H., were present to show their respect and esteem for the deceased. The floral offerings were very beautiful and besides the many tributes from relatives and friends there was a floral lyre with broken string from Trinity church of Tilton and a floral pillow from Doric lodge of Masons.

The pall bearers were J. W. Stark, Fred Stark, Roy M. Haynes, Joseph E. Stott, William Majerison and E. E. Mitchell. Interment was in the family lot in Spring Grove cemetery, Andover.

Death of Elwyn Teague

Elwyn Teague, a former well-known citizen of Ballardvale, passed away Monday afternoon at the age of sixty-two years. The deceased was born in Turner, Me., and came to reside in Ballardvale in 1891. His health has been rapidly failing for the past three years until the end came. Besides his wife he leaves three daughters, Mrs. Joseph D. Russell, Miss Elsie M. Teague and Mrs. Joseph Wilson of Lawrence, and one son, John Teague, of Turner, Me., to mourn his loss.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph D. Russell, and was conducted by Rev. Perry L. Neldon. On Thursday the remains were taken to Turner, Me., and interred in the family lot.

Obituary

HELEN SINCLAIR

A rare spirit took its heavenward flight when "Nellie" Sinclair died early this morning in the home of William Gorrie, 7 Buxton court.

She was born forty years ago in Dundee, Scotland, and came to Andover in 1909 with her brother-in-law, William Galt. For several months she was a helper in the housework at Abbot Academy and also in the family of Mrs. Alice Dodson Morgan of Frye Village and of Miss Margaret Gray of Central street.

Never robust in health, she finally succumbed to a lung trouble which had affected her for many years. Her courage and patience never left her, and her strong Christian trust gave cheer to her friends and made her own hope bright. Music was a source of great joy to her from childhood and she gladly used her skill in it for the pleasure and help of others. None who knew her will forget her unselfish spirit and her faithful, conscientious painstaking in all she did. She was a loyal member of the Free church and was constant in her attendance at its services so long as her health would allow.

Many friends across the sea as well as in Andover will sympathize in the sorrow of her two surviving sisters, Miss Isabella Sinclair of Frye Village and Mrs. Jessie Sinclair Galt of Cambridge.

The funeral service will be held at 7 Buxton court on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock and will be conducted by her pastor, Rev. F. A. Wilson.

The bride party were unattended, the bride being given in marriage by John C. Laing. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white crepe de chine, trimmed with imported lace, and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums.

Miss Helen L. Laing acted as flower girl and Misses Louise and Ruth Meikle of Saco, Me., as the ribbon bearers. The ushers were George Nicoll and John M. Laing. The wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Miss Sarah M. Thomson.

The ceremony was attended by guests from Saco, Me., Reading, Malden, Andover, Lawrence and Methuen.

After the service an informal reception was held followed by a wedding supper for relatives and friends. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicoll left late in the evening for Boston in a taxicab on a honeymoon trip to be spent at Blue Point, Long Island, Schenectady, and Providence, R. I. They will be at home to friends at 10 Cuba street, Andover, where they have a cozy home fitted up, after October 1.

MORSE-MATTHESON

A pretty home wedding took place on Monday evening of this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mattheson of North Andover, when their daughter, Miss Mabel Georgianna, was married to George William Morse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morse of this town. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Usher Monro of St. Paul's Episcopal church, the double ring service being used.

The bridal party stood beneath a canopy of autumn foliage, while other decorations throughout the house were of a similar nature. The bride's gown was of white messaline and silk lace with rhinestone trimmings. She was attended by her sister, Miss Marion L. Mattheson, who wore blue messaline. The bride was given away by her father.

The best man was George C. Napier of this town, while the ushers were Mason W. K. Downing, Ralph R. Currier, both of North Andover, Thomas Kyle and J. Everett Collins of Andover. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Lucy Dinsmore of Boston.

Following the ceremony a reception took place at which the wedding cake was served by the classmates of the bride at Johnson High School, including the Misses Ruth D. Hamilton, Ida B. Saverbutts, Ida R. Smith and Eva L. Westland. About seventy-five guests attended including people from Boston, Andover, North Andover, Lawrence, Georgetown and West Boxford.

After an extended wedding trip, the newly wedded couple will reside at 53 Main street, North Andover.

Register Atherton Talks

Register of Probate Horace H. Atherton, Jr., spoke before the Men's club of the South church on Friday evening and delivered what proved to be an exceedingly interesting informal talk about the important functions of that judicial tribunal which deals with so many of the sacred affairs of life.

Register Atherton said that the Probate Court was one of the most important parts of our somewhat complicated system of jurisprudence because it dealt with wills, estates of the dead, guardianships for insane people, minors and others, changed certain domestic relations between man and wife. He explained the law of descent in Massachusetts, told about dower and curtesy, and explained the rights of husbands and wives in the estate of the other, and quoted a number of humorous wills on file in Essex county and elsewhere.

The will of an old western farmer, supposedly rich, but dying poor was quoted. It read: "I leave the earth and that is all I do leave. My relations have always wanted that, and now, by gravity, they can have it."

Register Atherton quoted the will of Zebadiah Abbott, yeoman, of Andover, who died in 1767. It was exceedingly interesting to his hearers, being a local will of importance in those days.

The speaker said that the Probate Court had had only three Judges and three elective Registers in over 20 years. Choate, Harmon and Dow were the judges, and Goodell, Mahoney and himself, the registers. He spoke in high terms of Judge Harry R. Dow of North Andover.

Register Atherton's address was instructive as well as entertaining, and seasoned up with the humor that the speaker gave it, it made one of the best addresses delivered in Andover for a long time.

Ballardvale Man in Trouble

Walter A. Curtis of Ballardvale, a traveling salesman, was arrested by the Haverhill police this week, after his attempt to drive an automobile backwards down a steep hill had resulted in the crashing of the machine half-way through a big plate glass window in a tailoring establishment. The case has been continued.

all questions of moment in the town or community are not referred to him. But, Mr. Stearns said, in other respects the minister has today a still more responsible post to fill than formerly, for it is as a citizen that he comes into closest touch with the community. A good citizen is not necessarily one who does the most for the town in the line of booming its growth or promoting its prosperity, who shines in political office, or is constantly before the public eye, but is the man who quietly and modestly goes about his daily work, helping to make the lives of his fellowmen brighter and happier, and helping in whatever way he can to further the best interests of the community. It has been in this respect, the speaker went on, that he has come most into contact with Mr. Shipman and Dr. Palmer, and in which he has most appreciated them. During their lives here they have been constantly on the watch, guarding against the approach of evil, warning the townspeople when trouble or danger threatens, and continually keeping their careful guard over the happiness and welfare of the town. Their prominence and interest in the Christian Civic League of Andover has grown out of this attitude, Dr. Palmer especially having been very influential in this respect. Their work in the general community, however, has been only part of the story, for there has also been their ever-present helpfulness and sympathy and care for the individual. Mr. Stearns said perhaps in this respect their influence has been most telling, and here it is that they have proved themselves good citizens, in their quiet exercise of loving kindness.

Mr. Wilson then called upon Mr. Shipman and Dr. Palmer to speak. The former voiced his regret at leaving Andover, and the difficulty he has found in the past few weeks in breaking old ties of many years' standing. He also mentioned the friendship with the other clergymen of the town, and the happy associations existing between the churches.

Mr. Palmer emphasized that he had gained from his life here immeasurably, that Andover had always been a place of wonder and inspiration to him and that it hardly seemed possible that he is not to continue his residence here. He said that changes were almost always viewed with dread, and with the feeling that with the change will come a complete overthrow of all things treasured and held dear. The realization, however, does not bear this out, for while things are never just the same, there is always something which makes up for what is gone. So he said it would be with the South and Christ churches; the work would still go on, and new workers would come to replace the old. He also expressed his regret at leaving Andover, but said that he is looking forward to his new work with much anticipation.

The meeting was largely attended, in spite of the rainy weather, by members of all the Protestant churches. During the service the regular choir sang "The Splendors of Thy Glory," by H. H. Woodward.
